
OUR HEART IS SADDENED as we write this column over the loss of a close, personal friend, Jack Chappell, who died last Thursday after a lingering illness.

Although we had recognized for some time, because of the inroads made by the disease, that there was no known cure, the passing of Jack still caused a numbness and a shock. No one can ever be prepared for such an eventuality.

Jack was one of the finest guys we ever knew. We consider it a privilege to be classed among his close friends.

He did good turns for people almost daily without fanfare and with no desire for commendation.

He had a basic quality of decency that was so apparent and an integrity that was so obvious that people often came to him with their everyday problems.

They knew he would always listen.

But we remember Jack for many things. For example, we have memories of him powdering a golf ball with sheer power unleashed.

But in our mind's eye we can still see that patient, fun-loving, well-built, six-foot plus ex-Marine, bending down to better hear the woes of some elderly lady who felt the city was not doing right by her. She wanted Councilman Chappell to know about it. And Jack would listen.

And that's the memory of our friend, Jack, we like the best.

That was the story of his life, sort of.

He was a good listener. It would be difficult to find a better epitaph than that for any man.

FOUR YOUNGSTERS, in the 10-12 year old bracket, have been apprehended by the Campbell police and charged with malicious mischief. We disgustedly have to report that these boys, according to the police, are the ones who have been doing the damage to the airplane in the Campbell park by deliberately punching holes in the framework.

Several other boys are also involved and will be picked up soon, the police say.

Lt. Carl Arnold, of the police department, suggested that it might be wise to mention that under the law, the parents can be liable up to $300 for the damage done.

This, then, is the word to the wise.

CAMPBELL'S CLEANUP CAMPAIGN was a highly successful operation, in our opinion, which is based on firsthand observation.

We do not agree with most of the criticism that has been leveled at it. We think some of the brickbats tossed were

New JC sign replaces 42-year old Campbell Grammar School marker

A 42-year old landmark went by the boards this week when the sign "WEST VALLEY JUNIOR COLLEGE" replaced "CAMPBELL GRAMMAR SCHOOL" on the main school building at Winchester and Campbell.

The junior college has taken up temporary quarters in the school buildings and will occupy it until a permanent campus has been located. The grammar school building will eventually be demolished. The elementary grades have been moved to the old Cherry Lane School which has been officially renamed Campbell Elementary School.

The renovation of the former elementary school facilities for the temporary junior college campus is estimated to cost $192,749. Equipment and fixtures valued at approximately $52,000 will be removed and installed in new, permanent quarters, college officials report.

Remodeling of the JC is now underway and will be completed before September 8 for an expected enrollment of 1200 full-time students.

The campus will consist of seven existing buildings---61,000 sq. ft.---of Spanish-style architecture and three portable buildings to be added—5,700 sq. ft.—on a 12 1/2-acre site in downtown Campbell. Building interiors will be completely repainted to provide a "new atmosphere."

The main building will house offices of the president and of the dean of instruction, 19 classrooms, an auditorium (capacity:

Budget gets approval

City may lift substandard area "freeze" on July 13

Campbell's unique building permit-zoning "freeze" on the substandard Railway-Dillon-Gilman area may be lifted on July 13 with no change in the present zoning of M-1-S.

This was indicated at the special City Council meeting on Monday, called especially to adopt the budget for 1964-65.

Adopting the $2 million budget for the city for 1964-65 was the main purpose of the special meeting. And the Council took care of that matter in routine fashion as the meeting was the climax to weeks of study by city officials of the largest budget in this city's history.

But the "freeze" took much more time.

FREEZE

The "freeze" was put in effect on June 8 in order to allow the Planning Commission and city staff to study the area and come up with an answer as to the best zoning for future development.

Complicating the issue to a degree was the condemnation program that the city had instituted for the section between the railroad and Los Gatos Creek. Approximately 10 buildings have been

Orville Overen, 36, city planner, dies

Services were conducted Monday afternoon at the Campbell Memorial Chapel for Orville Harold Overen, 36, Campbell city planner who died Thursday night at his home. He resided at 2282 Central Park Drive.

Overen, the first full-time city planner in Campbell's history, was employed in that position for the past 33 months. He had been hospitalized recently for hypertension and high blood pressure but had returned to his duties last week.

He was born August 11, 1927, in Quincy, Washington, and received a bachelor's degree in landscape architecture from the University of Oregon. He also had done graduate work in that field at Washington State.

From 1955-57 he served in the U.S. Army and later became associate city planner for Palo Alto where he helped plan the downtown development program.

Surviving him are his wife, Mrs. Donna Jean Overen and two daughters, Cynthia Gayle and Nancy Jean, of Campbell. He is also survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ole Overen, of Quincy, Washington; four brothers, Ivan, Clarence, Donald and Francis Overen, all of Quincy and three sisters, Mrs. Esther Grant, of Wenatchee, Washington; Miss Loretta Overen, of Seattle and Mrs. Neva Frye of Utah.

City seeks planner

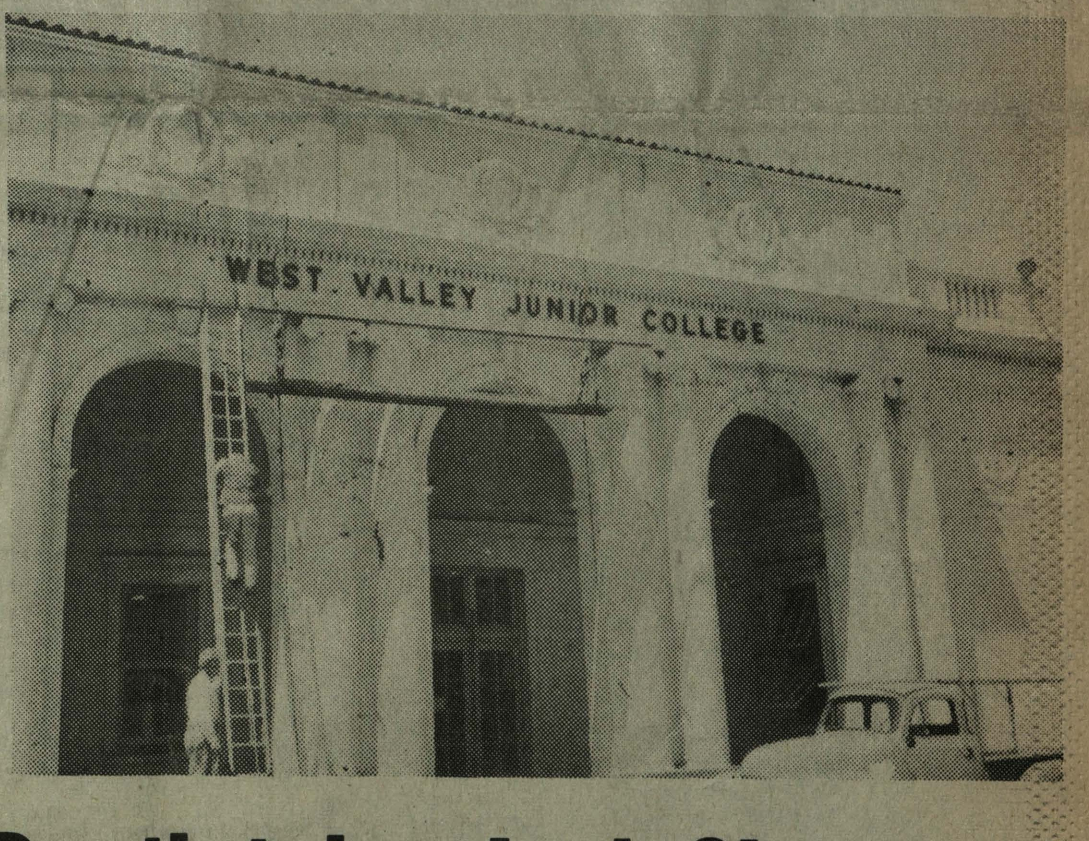
Efforts will be made to select a new planning director for the City of Campbell by September 15. In the interim the present city staff personnel will attempt to carry the extra load brought about by the vacancy in the planning department.

This was decided at the City Council meeting Monday.

The vacancy occurred by the untimely death last week of Orville Overen, city planning director for the past 33 months.

The council adjourned the meeting Monday in honor of the memory of Overen and former Councilman Jack Chappell. Both died last Thursday.

City Manager Bob Stephens informed the Council that notices would be sent out immediately announcing the opening and that applications would be received until August.



Death takes Jack Chappell, former city councilman

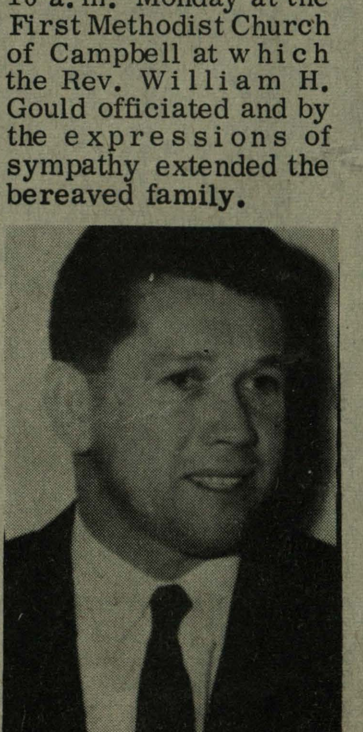
One of the most tireless community workers in this town's history was taken by death last Thursday.

Former City Councilman Jack E. Chappell died last Thursday morning in the Palo Alto Veterans' Hospital after a lingering illness.

Only 38 when he succumbed to brain cancer, he had been elected to the City Council in 1958 when he was 32 years of age. He served one term and for the last two years of the term he was vice-mayor.

But the interest in his community remained with him after he retired from the council and until his final moments. His consuming desire, repeated time and again, was to make his town a better place in which to live and work. And he continued to work toward this objective until the dread disease was in its final stages.

The deep respect his fellow townspeople held for him was evidenced by the attendance at the funeral services held at 10 a.m. Monday at the First Methodist Church of Campbell at which the Rev. William H. Gould officiated and by the expressions of sympathy extended the bereaved family.



JACK CHAPPELL

U.S. Marine Corps military rites were conducted at the private interment at Golden Gate National Cemetery, San Bruno.

A long-time resident of Campbell, Chappell is survived by his wife, Reba, and two daughters, Jacalyn, 17, and Vickie, 14, of 312 S. Christopher, Campbell.

He is also survived by his mother, Mrs. Allie Chappell, of San Jose, and five brothers, Don and Dale Chappell of San Jose; Horace Chappell of Campbell; Kenneth Chappell of Sacramento and Phell Chappell of Oakland.

Chappell had been active in civic affairs even before the city was incorporated. He was one of the organizers and the first captain of the police patrol for the community and worked for the incorporation of the city in 1952.

He was born in Col-

Editorial

Why not ban'em

Each year the City Council worries over the issuance of fireworks permits. The councilmen must process the applications and decide which organizations or businesses should be allowed to sell fireworks for the brief period before the Fourth of July.

Before the applications come before the Council they have been approved by the state fire marshal's office, for there are stringent conditions from the fire safety standpoint that must be met.

Many charitable organizations sell fireworks in order to raise money for their projects of the year. This is commendable.

Some businesses in town sell fireworks simply because it is a money-maker for them and helps them pay the overhead including taxes. This, too, is commendable.

But almost always a hassle develops over what applicants are deserving or whether charitable organizations should be favored in the issuance of permits.

And there are some other knotty questions. Should the $100 license fee called for be waived in the case of the service clubs and charitable organizations because their money is going for a "deserving purpose"?

Then should the license fee be charged the merchants because the money they raise goes for taxes and other year 'round overhead expenses which may not exactly be called "deserving" in the strict sense of the word?

But we have a solution to ending this annual hassle.

Simply ban the sale and use of fireworks within the city limits.

A number of years ago The Press advocated that such action be taken by the City Council. But nothing came of it and each year the the hassle crops up again. We still think our solution to the problem is the answer.

Deliberately we have not touched on other aspects of the fireworks situation.

We maintain that no useful purpose is gained by either the sale or use of fireworks on Independence Day.

We agree wholeheartedly that a community-sponsored fireworks display with the American Flag proudly exploding in the sky is a beautiful sight. We think such displays are great and they do serve a purpose.

But we fail to see any value in the small scale variety that is sold over the counter at the temporary stands before Independence Day.

We don't think the many burned hands and faces, in varying degrees of seriousness, that often result plus the fires that are often started from the fireworks are really worth the chips.

We think the City Council would be doing a community service, if the sale of fireworks within the city limits would be prohibited.

Signs of the times

Up with the new. Down comes the old.

That's about the size of it. This week the old Campbell Grammar School building at Winchester and Campbell Ave. is sporting a new sign: "WEST VALLEY JUNIOR COLLEGE".

The new junior college has taken up its temporary quarters in the building and the elementary school has moved out.

Many old-timers will have a nostalgic feeling as they observe the transition. After all, for more than 40 years the building has housed the elementary grades of our community.

True the junior college will only use the building for a relatively few years and then the building will probably be removed altogether.

But it is fitting and proper that the last few years of the grammar school's life are to be used for such a useful purpose.

So welcome Dr. Wallace Hall and his staff as they move into their new quarters.

May the JC's stay be as outstanding as the former occupants.

The temporary campus will include 30 classrooms and laboratories, PE locker-rooms, a student activities center, and a snack-bar. Off-street parking for approximately 1,700 cars will be provided near the campus.

Arrangements have been made to use some laboratory facilities in adjacent Campbell High School during late afternoon and evening hours.

When the 1,308 delegates to the Republican Convention and an equal number of alternates convene at the Cow Palace on July 13 a tremendous amount of preparation will have preceded the opening gavel. This will be the 108th Anniversary of the Republican Party's first convention held in Philadelphia June 11-19 in 1856. It will precede the Democratic Convention which convenes August 24. Only in three years, 1888, 1956, and 1960, have Republicans met after the Democrats had selected their standard bearer.

But of all conventions in those 108 years this one has probably been the most complex in its planning requirements. It has been necessary to commandeer almost every hotel from Palo Alto to Sausalito. Pacific Telephone Company has been required to install 100 TV picture circuits, each of which will utilize some 540 individual telephone lines. In addition the company will provide 264 voice circuits for TV and radio. Microwave antennae and cables will send pictures from thirty TV cameras at the Cow Palace and twenty-five others throughout San Francisco. Three thousand special phones and 300 public phone booths have been installed along with 325 teletype circuits. More than 100 specially trained operators will monitor this tremendous communications job which has used up 36,000 miles of wire.

Not the least of preconvention headaches is the assignment of seats. Though the Cow Palace seats 18,000 for sporting events, the requirements of television and news coverage cut this to 14,500. Seventeen hundred seats will be reserved for radio, TV, and newspaper correspondents to accommodate the 6,000 accredited media representatives who will function at the Cow Palace and the hundreds more who will operate throughout the city. Both the north and the south exhibit halls of the Cow Palace will be taken over by the boradcasters, newspaper and periodical representatives.

The entire State of California has been allotted 558 tickets to the Convention. Of these, 60 will go to the victorious Goldwater delegation and the remaining 498 will be distributed amongst Republican nominees, officeholders, and the leaders of Republican organizations. As an example of the ticket scarcity, the California Republican Women Federated, the largest Republican organization in the nation, will receive only five tickets to the Convention. As an incumbent Republican Member of Congress, I am entitled to one ticket.

In 1956 the thing I most remember about the San Francisco Convention was the frustration of wanting to provide tickets for hard working supporters and not being able to do so. It prompted me to state facetiously, "I hope the next convention is in Bangor, Maine."

But Bangor didn't bid for the convention and San Francisco did. So, much as I would like to provide tickets for all those who request them, I must face up to the reality that conditions will be even worse this year than eight years ago. Though being there in person is important, I do suggest that radio and television will allow each interested spectator to be in several places at once, a feat which cannot be duplicated by any ticket holder in the best reserved section.

badly aimed, although there might have been a slight justification for some complaints.

Pete Lico, former councilman and mayor, charged at a recent council meeting that the Los Gatos Scavenger Co. should have conducted a house-to-house pickup service during the cleanup campaign.

He said that some elderly citizens were unable to transport their trash to the dump. They thus were deprived of the special service that was being offered of free dumping privileges.

We are just as sympathetic as Pete when it comes to the plight of oldsters. But we also think that there are not enough in this category to condemn the entire cleanup program. We feel certain that arrangements could have been made to furnish transportation in many cases.

-o-

SELFISHLY we concede that a free pickup service by Los Gatos Scavenger Co. for each residence might have been a great idea. We wouldn't have had to chug on down to the park in our Model A, if that had been the case.

We hold no brief for the disposal people. But we wonder if a special house-to-house service would have been practical in a cleanup campaign covering a particular period? And we are not worrying about the extra cost for Los Gatos Scavenger.

But from what we saw hauled to the dump, the front yards in town would have been pretty messy places during the time the people were waiting for the trucks to come by.

Unless the entire town would have been covered in one day in a special pickup service, people could easily have become confused as to when and where to pile the rubbish.

Under the circumstances we think the cleanup program scored mighty high in our book.

The campaign was efficiently conducted by the fire department and the firemen manned the dumping area on their off hours. The park was cleared each night.

We sincerely believe it was a commendable undertaking. We hope it becomes a permanent fixture.

condemned and demolished with 12 more on the list. City officials were also directed to continue with the condemnation program even during the freeze period.

Property owners in the area had complained that they were being treated unfairly. They claimed that prospective buyers had been frightened off because of the state of uncertainty of the situation.

More than 70 people, representing about 85 per cent of the property in the area, attended a meeting at the city hall Friday to discuss their problem. The meeting was presided over by Joe Anello, co-publisher of The Press and a property owner in the section.

Anello told the Council Monday that the property owners almost unanimously favored retaining the M-1-S zone with more stringent conditions, if possible. He also reported that a number of "package deals" were pending in which groups of property owners would offer their parcels in a block at a set price. He said that, based on advice from reputable real estate agents who were present, the price agreed upon was $1.50 per square foot.

Anello also asked the Council to clarify for the property owners' benefit the system used by the city in the condemnation proceedings. He said that several had wondered why their property had been condemned while others which appeared in poorer condition had not been.

Councilmen felt that they should hear from the Planning Commission on the subject before lifting the "freeze." A report from the Planners is expected at the next meeting. The Council also approved a building permit for a plumbing shop in the area on Monday in a special action.

BUDGET

Only one person from the audience, Bob Burton, 170 Coventry, offered any suggestions at the final hearing on the budget. Burton asked that $2000 be allocated for recreational purposes. He said that the city does not assist in any way now in any recreation program, and the $2000 would remove some of the load off the shoulders of individual merchants who sponsor teams.

The councilmen appeared favorable to developing a recreation program for the city and directed City Manager Bob Stephens to study and report on the situation. They also indicated that they would be willing to draw on unallocated reserves to assist in a recreation program should the need arise.

Before the Council adopted the budget, Stephens explained the breakdown of income. He showed that much of the more than $2 million income from all sources will be in restricted funds and can only be used for public works.

He explained that the general fund carries the burden of most of the city departments but that only $950,257 will be available. He added that the City next year will have the most ambitious public works program in the city's history.

Stephens was also optimistic over the amount that will be in reserves at the end of this fiscal year. He said that the books of the city will be closed on July 13 when the actual balance will then be known. He had estimated that the reserve would be $40,691 but thought it could go considerably higher.

The total budget appropriations call for $1,821,287. Of this amount, $296,550 will be gas tax projects. Storm drain projects will total $235,500 and street bond projects $38,000.

The police department budget allocation comes to $238,032 and the fire department $189,361. The engineering department gets $109,221 and street maintenance calls for $83,681. Non-departmental allocations total $239,778.

Q.-I plan to move to another state. Will my social security check be delayed?

A.-If you notify Social Security early enough, there should be no delay. Be sure to include your social security number on any letters or other correspondence about your check.

Q.-I plan to move across the street from my present address. Since I will have the same postman, should I notify Social Security of the new address?

A.-Yes, notify the Social Security Administration and the Post Office, so there will be no possibility of a lost check.

Q.-Where can I get information to help me in estimating my social security benefit?

A.-You may telephone, write or visit your Social Security Office for a free booklet which tells you how to estimate your benefit. Ask for Pamphlet No. 855.

Q.-I will retire later this year when I am 65. When should I file my application, and what records will I need?

A.-Get in touch with your Social Security Office about three months before you retire. Someone there will tell you what papers you will need.

Q.-If I retire at age 65, should I apply for benefits then, or a few months before or after?

A.-You may apply as early as three months before your actual retirement date, and it's a good idea to do so. You will then have time to gather and submit any records or family documents, if necessary, and be able to receive your first check without delay.

Plan will save walnut trees

Campbell's landmark, the two stately walnut trees at the Harrison-Campbell intersection, will be a center of a miniature park, if the present plans of the City Council materialize.

It was reported at the council meeting Monday that the owner of the American Auto Supply had agreed to dedicate the necessary property for the street improvement at the corner, if the city would pay for the improvements.

The plan, tentatively approved by the council, includes the improvement of the right turn lane onto Harrison from Campbell's new sidewalk and isolating both trees in a pint-sized park with a bench or two. One of the trees is now on private property. It was estimated that the city's cost would be $2,000 plus the expense of reinforcing the limbs. The council plans to discuss the allocation of the money for the job at the budget hearings this week.

Graduation-wedding for Diane Nelson

June is the month for brides and graduations, and Diane Mary Nelson had a leading role in both ceremonies recently. Following her graduation from San Jose State College she became the bride of Bruce Glenn Crawford of Salida, Calif.

Rev. William Gould of the First Methodist Church of Campbell officiated at the double ring ceremony. Diane was attired in a formal gown of silk organza over taffeta. The fitted bodice featured a bateau neckline with dropped shoulders and short sleeves. The belled skirt and the bodice were both accented with re-embroidered Alencon lace. A tiny pill box crown held her illusion veil and she carried a French bouquet of white carnations and orchids. Miss Adrienne Hall, a Kappa Delta sorority sister, was the maid of honor. She chose a gown of apricot silk shantung with matching veil headpiece. Her bouquet was tangerine carnations.

Mrs. Douglas Harry of Campbell and Miss Lynnea Nelson of Los Gatos were the bridesmaids. They were identically attired in apricot gowns and carried nosegays of tangerine carnations.

Robert Gardali of San Mateo served as best man and ushers were Kenneth Crawford of Fresno and Peter Hamilton of Oakland.

A reception for 350 guests was held in the Social Hall of the Church. The reception table was beautifully decorated with a five tiered wedding cake and a white and tangerine floral arrangement designed by Mrs. Earl Buck, a family friend, who also decorated the church altar with white stock.

The young couple left for a wedding trip to San Francisco and are now making their first home in San Jose.

Mr. and Mrs. Everett Nelson, 911 Dry Creek Road, are the parents of the bride. She is a graduate of Camden High School and San Jose State College, with a teaching degree in Kindergarten Primary. She plans to teach in this area in the fall.

Pony leaguers get restrooms

Pony League players and spectators at the city-owned Rincon Park will soon be able to use the shack and portable rest rooms now at Campbell Park. The council Monday night rather reluctantly agreed to move the buildings to the Rincon area as recommended by the park advisory committee.

It was pointed out that the city is now renting the restrooms at a cost of $85 per month. The council agreed to extend the lease until after the Pony League season ends and then decide what to do with the buildings.

Former Councilman Peter Lico cautioned the council on making contributions to any organization but City Attorney Joe Bonacina ruled that it could be done in this case because of public welfare.

The attorney also said that Pony League would have to have adequate insurance to cover the city from any liability that might arise. Pony League representatives at the meeting agreed to this.

Blackford holds lead in Colt League action

Third place Leigh is also close to Blackford with a 6-4 record after losing to the league leaders Wednesday, 4-3.

BIDING MY TIME—IN TRINITY COUNTY

Now that my body is withered and old,
My mind is stale and my feet are cold;
My hands are wrinkled, and so is my brow,
So what use am I to any one now?

Of course I can still eat my stew and fret,
Wondering how long I will be here yet;
Thinking of things that I have never done,
'Cause half of the time I was having fun.

Fishing and hunting and singing with glee,
Sharing my joys with no one else but me.
With all my blessings that came from above,
God has been with me, given me His love.

I couldn't preach 'cause I didn't know how;
Maybe that's the reason I've nothing now.
All that I've left is one good intention—
To sit on my butt and draw the pension.

Al Vatuone resigns from board

Albert A. Vatuone, member of the West Valley Junior College board of trustees and assistant superintendent of the Cambrian Elementary School district, has announced his resignation from the WVJC board, effective July 1, because of increased business and personal duties.

In a letter to Dr. C. R. Timpany, county school superintendent, dated June 16, Vatuone stated, "I wish to express my gratitude to the people who elected me . . . it brought me into contact with six of the finest men (fellow board members) I ever hope to know." He also praised Pres. Wallace W. Hall and the College staff and wished the new institution continued success.

The WVJC board, upon learning of Vatuone's resignation, indicated last week that it will appoint a successor, as permitted by the State Education Code, to fill the unexpected term which ends June 30, 1967.

The successor, the board stipulated, must be a resident of and a registered voter in the Campbell Union High School district, as was Vatuone. Nationalities group organizes

The first general meeting of the Nationalities Center of Santa Clara Valley was held recently at the San Jose Health Center on San Pedro Street.

Nationalities Center of Santa Clara Valley is a nonprofit organization for persons of all nationalities to come together and share their cultures for a better understanding of all peoples.

Any nationality group or individual desiring information about this organization may call Mrs. Alfred Bialy at 379-1728 or attend the next general meeting July 23 at the San Jose Health Center.

Name change for hospital

Effective July 1, the Los Gatos Community Hospital on Pollard Road near Winchester Boulevard will have a new name which will more closely identify its main service area.

The facility, opened 18 months ago, will be known as Community Hospital of Los Gatos/Saratoga, according to administrator Robert P. Hannum.

Action on the name came about after the hospital's board of directors were petitioned by Saratoga physicians and residents who requested their city be included in the hospital's title.

REV. WILLIAM GOULD

Local pastor to continue assignment

Rev. William H. Gould will continue as pastor of the First Methodist Church of Campbell, according to an announcement from the 1964 California-Nevada Conference of the Methodist Church held at the University of Pacific recently.

Alan R. Goozee, Associate Minister, and Dorothy H. Kimbrell, Minister of Education, have also had their assignments continued.

The Stockton session was featured by the addition of 15 churches, congregations which belonged to the former Pacific Japanese Provisional Conference, disbanded May 23. It marks the completed merger with the California-Nevada Conference of all non-English speaking Methodist churches formerly organized in special groups.

The delegates also urged the reassignment of Bishop Donald H. Tippett of Berkeley as their resident bishop for his last four years of service before retirement.

Alumni of Cal get questions

The University of California's Berkeley campus has completed mailing 65,000 questionnaires in a census of its farflung alumni.

Sent to alumni from 1889 to 1963, the census seeks to obtain information on former Cal students for use during the University's Centennial in 1968.

The project was announced by Chancellor Edward W. Strong, who noted that one in every three alumni of the Berkeley campus will receive a questionnaire.

"Our alumni are to be found in the far corners of the nation, as well as in great numbers here in California. We want to learn what they have done since leaving here, what effect Cal has had on their lives, and many other questions regarding our former students," Chancellor Strong stated.

The census asks the recipient's major field of study at U.C., whether he worked his way through college and if he had a scholarship. It seeks to learn whether he was active in athletics, student government or other campus activities.

Bulldozers and graders started work this week on the new $1,812,000 Archbishop Mitty Memorial High School at Doyle and Moorpark roads in keeping with a schedule that calls for construction of sufficient classrooms to accommodate three freshmen classes of 120 students by September. The school is being built with funds from the St. Mary's Cathedral and Archdiocesan Fund Drive that has received a total of $8,592,183 or 55.2% of its goal to date. Moreland Board elects tonight

The Moreland School District Board of Trustees will meet in special session tonight at 7:30 p.m. to elect a president and a clerk and designate a secretary for the 1964-65 school year.

The present members of the board are Robert Brydon, president; Doris von Hermann, clerk; Fred Noe, and Eugene Riordan. Fred M. Peterson has previously submitted his resignation as a member of the board. The Board will also decide on summer meeting dates at tonight's meeting.

San Jose State reaches 7311

Enrollment for the San Jose State College summer sessions reached 7,311, surpassing last summer's enrollment by 165, according to Joe H. West, dean of the summer sessions.

Included in the enrollment figure are 201 students registered at the branch at Hartnell College in Salinas.

More students are expected to enroll for several of the National Science Foundation institutes and the National Defense Educational Act institute in Spanish within another week. This is expected to increase the enrollment by more than 150 students.

Following the current six-week session will be a four-week session, August 3 to August 28.

HIT AND RUN

Someone drove into the fence surrounding the property of J. E. Hartman, 970 Old Orchard Rd. early Sunday morning, according to a report on file with the California Highway Patrol. Hartman, who said the culprit drove off without identifying himself, asks neighbors in the area to call him if they have any information regarding the incident.

HOME EC. GRANT

Miss Susan M. Kenney, 113 W. Cherry Lane, has received a $400 scholarship from the Bay District California Home Economics Association. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Kenny and a graduate of Campbell High, she is a junior at San Jose State and majoring in home economics education.

Five delegates from local SDA church to attend convention

A five member delegation from Campbell Seventh-Day Adventist Church, 65 E. Rincon Ave., Campbell, will leave Campbell on July 7, to attend a giant, western states religious lay member convention in Soquel, California from July 8 through 11.

Pastor Jewell T. Bolejack from the Campbell S. D. A. A. church in presenting a more positive Christian witness in the future."

According to Elder Bolejack more than 1,500 delegates from 415 Seventh-Day Adventist churches in Californiz, Arizona, Utah, Nevada and Hawaii will attend the convention which is expected to draw some 15,000 persons to weekend sessions.

Local delegates to the convention include the following from Campbell; Emery Roberts, Mrs. Pearl McKinstry, Mrs. Mary Reiber, Mrs. Lila Zintz and Mrs. Vinnie Ruffo.

GRADUATES--David L. Welsh, airman apprentice, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. Linn Welsh, of 871 Monica Lane, Campbell, recently graduated from Aviation Familiarization School at the Naval Air Technical Training Center, Memphis, Tenn.

Property taxes in state produce almost $3 billion

General property taxes levied by counties, cities, school districts, and other special-purpose districts produced $2,805,152,000 for the 1963-64 fiscal year according to George R. Reilly, First District Member of the State Board of Equalization.

Of this total amount, Santa Clara County produced $141,960,000 on a $1,692,890,000 assessed valuation. Cities raised $18,639,000 in tax levies; the county $33,398,000; school districts $83,577,000 and other districts $6,346,000. The average tax rate in the county was $8.39.

Average tax rates for the counties of the state ranged from a low of $4.36 (Placer) to a high of $9.73 (Alameda).

For the seventh consecutive year the total general property tax bill increased by about $200 million as local governments strained to meet both the demands imposed by their burgeoning populations and those for additional governmental services. Reilly noted that the property tax load for every man, woman, and child in the State is now $156; seven years ago it was $102. During this period per capita personal income rose by $515, from $2,450 to $2,965.

During the fiscal year assessed values increased 5 percent while the average tax rate rose 2 1/2 percent from $7.82 in the 1962-63 to $8.00 this year. Tax levies of city and county governments each increased approximately 6 percent; those of school districts were up nearly 9 percent, and those of other special districts climbed nearly 12 percent.

Slightly more than one-half of all property taxes levied this year were required to furnish education for the 4.7 million students enrolled in public schools (kindergarten through junior college).

County governments, including the City and County of San Francisco, required $869 million, almost one-third of all property tax levies. An average tax rate of $2.48 was imposed for county purposes.

Cities other than San Francisco raised $365 million of property taxes, or a little more than one-eighth of the total. An average rate of $1.55 per $100 of assessed value was required to produce this sum.

Special district (sanitary, cemetery, lighting, fire, etc.) taxes amounted to $159 million. Reilly pointed out that the only property tax levied by the State is on railroad cars owned by non-railroad companies. This tax produces less than $2 million a year for the State.

Ten schools provide summer library hours

The summer library schedule for Campbell Elementary Schools will provide for half a day service weekly at ten schools in the district. Larry Quick, school librarian at the Monroe School, will serve as summer librarian. Quick will help children with the selection of books, check out books, and generally encourage reading for enjoyment during the summer months. Occasionally he will give a book talk.

The schedule starting July 6 and ending August 7 provides for library service at, San Tomas Monday mornings, Hazelwood Monday afternoons; Rosemary Tuesday mornings, Forest Hill Tuesday afternoons; Monroe Wednesday mornings, Rolling Hills Wednesday afternoons; Quito School Thursday mornings, Dover School Thursday afternoons; Lynhaven Friday mornings and Sherman Oaks Friday afternoons.

Morning hours are from 9 until 11:30 a.m. and afternoon hours are from 12:30 to 3.

A wood shop program will also be conducted by two shop teachers. Bud Jolimay will offer shop at The Rolling Hills School and John Pimentel at Blackford School. Boys who have completed eighth grade will decide their own projects. There are no required hours. The shops will be open from 9 a.m. to 3 p.m. July 1 through August 7. The only requirement is that they take care of the equipment and clean-up thoroughly.

Three Camden students study abroad

Camden High School in the Campbell Union School District has had the unusual distinction of having three students selected during the same year for participation in the American Field Service student exchange program.

Already aboard the ocean liner "Seven Seas" when it left New York recently were Jay O'Brien and Cathy Bowman. Jay, son of Mr. and Mrs. John J. O'Brien of San Jose, will live for a year with a Swedish family while attending school. Cathy will spend the summer months in Denmark. She is the daughter of Mrs. Jane Bowman of Woodard Road. Camden's third representative is Nichols Smith who is living in San Jose, Costa Rica, for a year. Smith is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smith of San Jose.

Students were selected on the basis of their scholarship, leadership and their ability to adapt themselves to new situations.
